MIDWEST REGION HEALTH PROFESSIONS CONFERENCE

HEALTH CARE CHALLENGES OF TODAY

PURPOSE

Patient care in today's society is planned by the health care team representing many different disciplines and avenues of care. Patients are seen in all types of environments by all types of practitioners. This conference will address a variety of issues that are shared by the health care professional today.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

At the conclusion of this conference, participants should be able to:

1. Define lateral violence.
2. Relate how lateral violence may affect patient outcomes.
3. State the diagnostic criteria for ADHD and the treatment guidelines.
4. Identify those at risk for anxiety disorders/depression in school age children.
5. Discuss current trends in diabetes management.
6. Discuss factors including medication and lifestyle affecting asthma control in pediatric patients.
7. Describe clinical presentation of depression in the elderly and discuss treatment modalities.
8. Verbalize the goals and importance of the epilepsy research project in rural Kansas.
9. Discuss practice guidelines for assessment and management of pain.
10. Distinguish ethics from morality and discuss value conflicts that arise in delivery of health care.
11. Determine how you feel when you are out of balance.
12. List ways in which to gain balance in your life.

CONFERENCE INFORMATION

The conference will be held at the McPherson Hall at Pittsburg State University, Pittsburg, Kansas, on October 28 and 29, 2009. A map of the University will be sent with your registration confirmation. Room temperature will vary so you may need to bring a jacket or sweater. Out of consideration for others, please turn your cellular phones and beepers off during the presentations. Thank you!
